Stephane Zavidow has broad experience in complex commercial and residential real estate transactions and corporate law. Her real estate practice is extensive, focusing on representation of Fortune 500 companies, financial institutions, developers, buyers and sellers, and joint ventures all of whom engage in transactions involving cooperatives, condominiums, office buildings, shopping centers, land development and private homes. Ms. Zavidow's experience also extends to corporate law, advising clients with business development projects and complex acquisitions. She drafts and negotiates agreements relating to employment, disclosure, trademarks, licensing, securities arbitration, Latin American emerging markets, and entertainment law.

Ms. Zavidow previously acted as principal of a law practice with offices in New York and Mexico, in which she focused on businesses utilizing the North American Free Trade Agreement. Most recently, Ms. Zavidow practiced in the real estate department of Greenberg Traurig LLP. She is licensed to practice law in both New York and New Jersey.

Ms. Zavidow received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Boston University in 1988, with a concentration in political science and business administration, and her law degree from Yeshiva University's Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law in 1991.
